

Terpening Genealogy

1st Generation

Huybert Lambertse + Jantsen Joosten

Died before 28 Nov 1660

Extant Document: Protocol van Vestenisse Wageningen 1660: Enjoined at the Archives of the Kingdom at Arnhem.

“Jantsen Joosten, widow of Huybert Lambertse, assisted by Claes Jansen, chosen by her as her representative in rights, for one moiety, and Lambert Huyberts, Peter Huyberts and the above named Claes Jansen as the husband and the representative in right of his wife Gysbertjen Huyberts and also representing the minor brothers and sisters of his wife, all heirs of the late Huybert Lambertse, their father, for the other moiety, declare to have sold, transported and given in plain possession to Gerrit Hindercamp and Aeltjen Foenissen, his wife, and their heirs, a certain house and garden situated on Dolderbrinck, in the neighborhood of Wageningen, etc.” Here follows the description. It is declared to be “a free and heired estate.” Dated 28 November, 1660. Source: “Lineage of the Brink Family,” Olde Ulster 2:4 (April 1906) pp. 113-121. Children: LAMBERT b: 1638 in Wageningen, Gelderland, Netherlands; Peter; Gysbertjen

2nd Generation

Lambert Huybertse + Hendrickje Cornelis Van De Cuyl

• Lambert: b. 1638 in Wageningen, Gelderland, Netherlands. Died before 11 April 1702 in Hurley, Ulster, NY. Married Hendrickje (b. ca 1635 in Wageningen, Gelderland, Netherlands) in Amsterdam, North Holland, Netherlands.

See Robert Borreson, “Direct Terpening Descendants of two Dutch Immigrants to New Netherland,” LDS film # 1421918.

Will executed on 12 Feb 1695/1696. Proved on 11 Apr 1702. Transferred property to Cornelis Cool (son-in-law) on 9 Mar 1702.

Name: LDS Ancestral File ID G442-CB (Lambert Huybertse Brink 1629-1702) is a match; LDS Ancestral File ID 9ND4-30 (Lambert Huybertse) is a match.

Lambert leased land in Hurley from the Governor under King Charles II in 1661. In 1708, one of the sons of Lambert assumed the name Brinck (Brink). The stone walls of the original house he built in Old Hurley can still be seen, with a brick addition added in 1842.

In a codicil to the will of Luis DuBois dated 27 Feb 1695/6, the Lambert Huybertse farm in Hurley is referred to as a boundary to land owned by DuBois. This implies that Lambert was still living (from Abstracts of Wills Vol I 1665-1707, pages 463 & 464: Liber 5-6 page 173). Lambert, his wife, and two children appear on the passenger list for DE TROUW, 13 DEC 1660. Lambert Heybertsin is listed among those taking an oath of allegiance in Ulster County on 1 Sep 1689 (from E. B. O'Callaghan, M.D., The Documentary History of the State of New-York (Albany, New York: Weed, Parsons & Co., 1850), vol. 1, p. 173. A “1687 List of Soldiers in Esopus” includes Lambert Hiberson, Corneles Lamberon, Huybert Lambertson (see <http://scott.lib.asu.edu/gene/genealogy/1687esop.html>).

• Hendrickje: LDS Ancestral File Id: 9ND4-45 (Hendrikje Cornelis). Hendrickje was taken captive by Indians in the 2nd Esopus War in June of 1663, along with 3 of her children. They were captured on June 7, 1663 and were held for three months. The last of the captives were released in Dec 1663. Biography: De Halve Maen, vol 57, #1.

• Father: Cornelis Barentse Van de Cuyl (b. 1615 in Wageningen d. 1706). • Mother: Lysbet Arentse (b. 1615 in Wageningen d.1676). Sisters: Annetje m. Cornelis Vernoooy (they emigrated on the ship Geelove “Faith” on 20 Jan 1664). Jacomyntje m. Jan Barentse Kunst on 14 Mar 1663—she was his 2nd wife).

Children of Lambert and Hendrickje: Huybert (b 1658/1659 in Wageningen, Gelderland, Netherlands), Jannetje (b 1659/1660 in Wageningen), Cornelius (b Dec 1660 in “De Trouw,” At Sea, Atlantic Ocean), Hendrick (b in Hurley, New Netherlands), Lysbeth (b in Hurley, Ulster, NY), GERRET, Pieter (b in Hurley).

3rd Generation

Gerret Lambertzen + Antje [Anna] Dirckse Hoogland

• Gerret: Conflicting birth dates. According to Gustav Anjou, Gerret was born ca 1645 in Bunschoten, Holland. He arrived in New Amsterdam (i.e., New York) in 1663 at the age of 18. His employer was J. B. Van Rensselaar. More likely, as others claim, he was born ca 1668\1670 in Hurley, Ulster, NY, christened 26 Jan 1670 in Hurley. He died after 1713.

m. Antje Dirckse Hoogland ca 1690\91 in Freerville, Ulster, NY (her third marriage).

Gerret is mentioned in the early records of New Amsterdam on 5 March 1664 when he acted as sponsor to the child Theunis, son of Jan Theuniszen and wife Marie Jans (New York Dutch Church Record, p. 72). Gerret named his own son after Theunis. Lived in Esopus (now Kingston), Ulster County, N.Y.; 1st mentioned in court records in 1671 (1897 Yearbook of the Holland Society of N.Y., p. 126). Resided at Marbletown, then a village near Kingston, and at New Paltz, a Huguenot settlement near Kingston. Last found reference refers to him and Jan Teerpenning paying 5 pounds in taxes (Lefevre, History of New Paltz, p. 89).

• Antje was born 1663 in Bedford, Long Island, Queens, NY. See Roswell Randall Hoes, Baptismal and Marriage Registers of the Old Dutch Church of Kingston, Ulster County, New York 1660-1809 (Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Co, 1891; 1997 Reprint), p. 507, #69. LDS Ancestral File ID JHXG-5H (Antje Hoogland) is a match; LDS Ancestral File ID LP01-NM (Antje Hooglandt) is a match; LDS Ancestral File ID 3S3M-7V (Annetje Hoogland) is a match.

Gerret and Antje's five children (see 4th Generation) all adopted the name • Teerpenning.

Antje was the daughter of • Dirck Jansen Hoogland b: 1635 in Maerseveen, Holland; d in Flatbush, Long Island, NY. LDS Ancestral File ID H2FN-QJ (Dirck Van Hooglant) is a match; named Derick Johnson Hooglandt in "Patent for the Town of Flatbush" dated 12 Nov 1685, from Strong's history of Flatbush, p. 41. Dirck came to this country ca 1657 (as seen by the census of 30 Sept 1687 in which Dirck was said to have been here about thirty years. The first record of Dirck in this country is his marriage in Flatbush, NY, on 8 Oct 1662. During his life Dirck acquired several plots of land in and around Flatbush and Bedford, NY, and lived on at least two of them at different times. On 25 Aug 1668 a deed was recorded in Midwout wherein Balthasaer DeHart sold to Derck Jansen Hoghglant a "bowery" amounting to ca 26 morgen (a morgen was approx 2 acres) on which there was a house in which Dirck lived for some time. The ownership of this property was passed to his sons Jan and then Willem. Son of

• Jan Hoogland, b. ca 1603.

• Annatje (Anneken) Hansen, bapt. 22 July 1640, New Amsterdam, New Netherlands. Witnesses: d'Hr. Willem Kieft, Teuntje Jeurgien. Widow of Jan Clercq of Midwout. Married Dirck Hoogland 8 Oct 1662 in Flatbush, Brooklyn, New Netherlands. Daughter of

• Hans Hansen Bergen, b 1610/1615 in Bergen, Hordaland, Norway. Died 30 May 1654 in New Amsterdam, New Netherlands.

"Hans Hansen, from Bergen, Norway, is the common ancestor of the Bergen family of Long Island, New Jersey and their vicinity. He was a ship carpenter by trade, went from Norway to Holland, and thence, in 1633, to New Amsterdam. In the records his name appears in various forms most commonly Hans Hansen Noorman, Hans Hansen Boer. He is one of the exceptions among the Norwegian settlers in New Amsterdam in so far that he has been mentioned frequently in books and papers as being a Norwegian, and that an entire book has been written about him and his descendants (Teunis G. Bergen, Descendants of Hans Hartsen Bergen, one of the early settlers of New York, with notes on other Long Island families, New York, 1866; enlarged edition, 1876). The assertion which has sometimes been made that Hans Hansen was at the head of an expedition of Dutch and Norwegians who crossed the Hudson, and settled where the present Jersey City is, is false. It has also been asserted that Bergen in New Jersey was called after Hans Hansen Bergen. But this statement is equally false. For Bergen in New Jersey was named after Bergen op Zoom (there is a Bergen in Holland and in Germany as well as in Norway). Hans Hansen had no property on the west of the Hudson where Bergen lay. Bergen in New Jersey was rounded after his death. Hans Hansen married, in 1639, in New Amsterdam, Sarah, daughter of Joris Jansen Rapalje of Walloon ancestry. She was born June 9, 1625, at Albany, and was probably the first female child born of European parentage in the colony of New Netherland. Many children were born to Hans and Sarah. The records of the Dutch Reformed church in New Amsterdam state when they were baptized and who acted as their sponsors. The children were: Anneken, baptized July 22, 1640; Brecktje, baptized July 27, 1642; Jan, baptized April 17, 1644, one of the sponsors being the Norwegian woman from Marstrand, Anneke Jans, at that time the wife of the Dutch pastor in New Amsterdam, Rev. Bogardus; Michiel, baptized November 4, 1646, one of whose sponsors was Pieter Jansen Noorman, a Norwegian; Joris, baptized July 18, 1649; Marretje, baptized October 8, 1651; Jacob, baptized September 21, 1653; Catalyn, a twin with Jacob, baptized November 30, 1653. Hans Hansen, we find, acted as sponsor for the child of a Norwegian, Laurens Pietersen Noorman, June 1, 1642. On July, 1638, the following agreement for the cultivation of a tobacco plantation on Manhattan Island was made between Andries Hudde and Hans Hartsen Norman:

Conditions and stipulations agreed to between Hudde and Hans Hansen Norman, on the ninth day of July, 1638, as follows: First, the said Andries Hudde shall by first opportunity ships from Holland send hither to Hans Hansen aforesaid six or eight persons with implements required for the cultivation of tobacco. Hans Hansen shall be bound to place the said persons upon the flatland on the Island of the Manhates behind the Corlears land. Hudde shall bear the expense of the transportation and engaging them and shall send the vouchers for these expenses with them. Hans Hunsen shall also be bound to furnish as many dwellings and tobacco houses, as the time may permit; further to put to work the persons, who shall come from the Fatherland, for the profit of both of them. Hans Hansen shall also have authority over them in Hudde's absence without interference by anybody else. He shall further bear and repay one half of the expenses, incurred by said Hudde. In like manner he must provide such supply of victuals, as shall be necessary for so many persons, on condition that Andries Hudde shall likewise repay one half of the expenses incurred here by Hans Hansen. Mons. Hudde shall also be bound to pay Hans Hansen for his industry whatever impartial men shall deem to be just. Likewise Hudde shall not be allowed to demand from said Hans Hunsen any rent for the land, but shall assist in every way with the means, which he has here, if he does not require them and is not prevented and all this until Hudde's return, when further arrangements shall be made. For what is above written, parties pledge their persons and property real and personal, present and future submitting to the Provincial Court of Holland and all other Courts, Judges and Justices, all in good faith without reservation or deceit. Thus done at Fort Amsterdam in New Netherland, the 10th of July Anno 1688. A. Hudde. (Signatures of Hans Hansen.) aforesaid.

Under date of July 18, 1638, Hans Hansen gave power of attorney to Wouter van Twiller, the Director of New Netherland. On March 13, 1647, he acquired a lot south of Fort Amsterdam "between Jan Snedeker and Joris Rapalje," that is, next to his father-in-law. On March 30, in the same year, he acquired land on Long Island "on the kill of Joris Rapalyey bounded by Lambert Huybertsen's, Jan the Swede's plantation and by Mespah Kill as far as Dirck Volkertsen." This was at the head of the Kill of Mespah (Indian name for Newton), or Newton Creek, in a section called by the Dutch "t Kreuppelbosch," now corrupted Cripple Bush. The grant amounted to 400 acres. Hans Hansen was a respectable citizen, and this was stated as the cause for his being acquitted when found guilty of smuggling in 1648. The records say (May 26, 1648): "Pardon of Hans Hansen, for fourteen years a respectable resident in New Amsterdam, on a charge of having aided in smuggling, on condition that he beg pardon of God and the court." He died probably early in 1654. His widow later became the wife of Teunis Gysbert Bogert. In 1656, in a petition asking for a grant of land, she described herself as the first born Christian daughter in New Netherland. Hans Hansen as well as his wife and her parents never learned to write, signing their names with marks, as the great majority of the inhabitants of New Amsterdam did." • Hester Le Maistre b: in Harlem, New Netherlands (Baptismal and Marriage Registers of the Old Dutch Church of Kingston, Ulster County, New York 1660-1809, p. 51, #997). Moses and Hester were married in Harlem, New Netherlands. They had nine children (Maria, Jan, Esther, Susanna, Abraham, Margrieta, Boudewyn, Jannetje, and Rachel). Hester Le Maistre died after 5 May 1723. Surname variations include Le Maitre, Lemaster, Delameter.

Father of Moses: • Jean Le Counte, died 24 May 1675 in Harlem, Kings, NY. Mother: • Mary Laurens.

Father of Hester: • Claude Le Maistre b: ca 1610 in Richebourg, Artois, France. Mother: • Hester Dubois b: 1625 in Canterbury, England.

• Claude Le Maistre died ca 1683 in Harlem, NY. On 23 July 1664, 17 Harlem residents of both sexes had their names transferred to the register of the church at Fort Amsterdam, among those listed were "Claude le Maistre and Hester du Bois his wife." Earlier, in the 1640s, according to Riker, he "fled as a refugee to Amsterdam, probably with his [first] wife, Joanne DeLannoy. She must have died, for he married at Amsterdam on April 24, 1652, Hester DuBois. He migrated to New Netherland later that year and settled at Flatbush, L.I. He worked as a carpenter. In 1661 he applied for land on Staten Island, but removed to Harlem, N.Y. instead. He served four terms as a magistrate at Harlem between 1666 and 1673. He bought two allotments of land from Daniel Tournour for which he took out a patent June 25, 1668. In 1675 he was chosen a deacon, but his sympathies were with the French church and service, whence arose the controversy with the town regarding the parish clerk's salary, which so disturbed his latter years. If impetuous, Claude was not incapable of generous acts when approached kindly, and his obstinacy in maintaining what he conceived to be his rights can hardly be deemed a defect in his character. He died circa 1683, his years having exceeded three score and ten. Claude DeLamater, or LeMaistre as he was then called, had issue with his second wife Hester as follows: Jan, Abraham, Isaac, Susannah, HESTER and Jacobus. (James Riker, History of Harlem, [1904], p. 493).

• Hester Dubois was born in 1625 in Canterbury, England. She was christened 9 Oct 1625. Married Claude le Maistre 24 April 1652 in Amsterdam, North Holland, Netherlands. Died 1710. Hester was of a Huguenot family that came to New Netherland in 1652 (The NY Genealogical and Biographical Record, vol. XCIV, p. 129, July 1963).

- William Henry's obituary from the Belleville Telescope, Friday, 24 May 1901: “Wm. H. Terpening was born in Virgil, Cortland County, New York, April 22, 1818. During the early years of his life he moved from New York to Indiana and there married Miss E. A. Mason. With his family he moved to Illinois, then to Iowa and from there to Kansas. They raised a family of ten children all of which survive him. His life was not an exceptional one, but he had the usual ups and downs of life and closed his earthly existence May 17, 1901, at his home in Fairview tp., Republic County, Kansas. His death was due to heart disease and dropsy. His wife died about a year ago. Besides his children he leaves a large number of friends to mourn his death.” Gravestone reads: May 17, 1901, aged 83 years, 25 days “Being dead he yet speaketh”
